Fund Performance Review & Market Commentary

The Aeon Balanced Prescient Fund was down by 2.80% on a net return basis for the first quarter of 2022 and is up by 12.68% over a one-year period.

The quarter ended March was overshadowed by market volatility due to the Russian invasion of Ukraine, which weighed on global markets. The West responded by imposing strict sanctions on Russia resulting in an increase in oil and commodity prices. The FTSE and MSCI removed Russian stocks from most of their indices. The result of higher energy prices, together with higher inflation expectations resulted in many investors adopting a global risk-off stance. The sector that fared best for the quarter ended March was Banks led by FirstRand and Standard Bank. Consumer Discretionary was the weakest sector for the quarter led by index heavyweight Richemont.

Previously, global central banks and governments have been accommodative as a reactionary measure to tackle the Covid-19 pandemic. This resulted in positive market sentiment with continuous assurances from the Fed in an environment of low-interest rates. However, this stance, global supply issues, heightened global demand and now surging commodity prices have resulted in concern over increasing inflation. More recently, the Eurozone's inflation figures have been above expectations while an inversion of the US treasury yield curve was observed raising concerns that the tightening of monetary policy could negatively impact economic growth. The Fed's focus has now shifted towards managing this inflation. This has resulted in the expectation for more aggressive rate hikes. Market participants now think there could be as many as six rate increases this year. This, combined with an increasing European refugee crisis, the potential for the lack of energy supply, and the expectation of a prolonged war resulted in investor sentiment dampening with a sell-off in equity markets. Lastly, China has also moved to increase regulations within the Technology sector as outlined by the CCP in 2021.

Locally, sentiment has somewhat improved following improved trade balances because of strong commodity prices. However, the country still faces structural growth obstacles. South Africa's fiscal position remains constrained by poor legacy policy decisions and ineffective implementation by the government. Eskom had to implement load-shedding as power generation decreased. Financial conditions may be difficult for South Africa in the years ahead with low GDP growth rates and high unemployment translating into weak consumer spending.

Looking forward, growth expectations for the local economy seem to be dependent on global growth, commodity prices, improving confidence, positive local government action, Covid-19 containment measures, and general inflation expectations and management. Astute stock picking with our Growth at Reasonable Price (GARP) philosophy that delivers superior value through the cycle and a focus on companies whose cash flows support earnings is expected to benefit the portfolios moving forward.

As part of showcasing our portfolio, we aim to provide you with some insight into portfolio companies on a regular basis. This quarter, Mondi is discussed, as a core investment within our funds. Mondi is an integrated paper and packaging company that has experienced strong tailwinds as a result of the structural shifts to e-commerce and a global move to sustainable and environmentally friendly packaging. Recently though, Mondi has been significantly impacted by the ongoing Russia/Ukraine war. Mondi's assets within Russia include a high margin integrated corrugated packaging and paper mill which supplies the local market. The plant generates approximately 20% of Mondi's current EBITDA. We believe the market has been overly harsh on the counter with the share price retreating over 30% and screens well in terms of value. Mondi has exposure to growing markets and has low-cost and large-scale assets and is fully vertically integrated. This implies the counter has market-leading margins. Furthermore, it is consistent with respect to dividends and has a strong balance sheet. We are confident in the long-term investment case.

Disclaimer

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Where a current yield has been included for Funds that derive its income primarily from interest bearing income, the yield is a weighted average yield of all underlying interest bearing instruments as at the last day of the month. This yield is subject to change as market rates and underlying investments change.

The Manager retains full legal responsibility for any third-party-named portfolio. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio there may be potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

Below are fund specific risks:

Default risk: The risk that the issuers of fixed income instruments (e.g. bonds) may not be able to meet interest payments nor repay the money they have borrowed. The issuers credit quality is vital. The worse the credit quality, the greater the risk of default and therefore investment loss.

Derivatives risk: The use of derivatives could increase overall risk by magnifying the effect of both gains and losses in a Fund. As such, large changes in value and potentially large financial losses could result.

Developing Market (excluding SA) risk: Some of the countries invested in may have less developed legal, political, economic and/or other systems. These markets carry a higher risk of financial loss than those in countries generally regarded as being more developed.

Foreign Investment risk: Foreign securities investments may be subject to risks pertaining to overseas jurisdictions and markets, including (but not limited to) local liquidity, macroeconomic, political, tax, settlement risks and currency fluctuations.

Interest rate risk: The value of fixed income investments (e.g. bonds) tends to be inversely related to interest and inflation rates. Hence their value decreases when interest rates and/or inflation rises.

Property risk: Investments in real estate securities can carry the same risks as investing directly in real estate itself. Real estate prices move in response to a variety of factors, including local, regional and national economic and political conditions, interest rates and tax considerations.

Currency exchange risk: Changes in the relative values of individual currencies may adversely affect the value of investments and any related income.

Geographic / Sector risk: For investments primarily concentrated in specific countries, geographical regions and/or industry sectors, their resulting value may decrease whilst portfolios more broadly invested might grow.

Derivative counterparty risk: A counterparty to a derivative transaction may experience a breakdown in meeting its obligations thereby leading to financial loss.

Liquidity risk: If there are insufficient buyers or sellers of particular investments, the result may lead to delays in trading and being able to make settlements, and/or large fluctuations in value. This may lead to larger financial losses than expected.

Equity investment risk: Value of equities (e.g. shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g. bankruptcy), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the selected investments and that there are no guarantees. Please note that all documents, notifications of deposit, investment, redemption and switch applications must be received by Prescient by or before 13:00 (SA), to be transacted at the net asset value price for that day. Where all required documentation is not received before the stated cut off time Prescient shall not be obliged to transact at the net asset value price as agreed to. Funds are priced at either 15:00 or 17:00 depending on the nature of the Fund. Prices are published daily and are available on the Prescient website.

Performance has been calculated using net NAV to NAV numbers with income reinvested. The performance for each period shown reflects the return for investors who have been fully invested for that period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestments and dividend withholding tax. Full performance calculations are available from the manager on request.
